Associates join the CDJA at this level to attain another place to advertise their company name within the framework of a fully accredited National Association that has a serious reputation of longevity, integrity and productivity. By bringing your name into the CDJA and agreeing to its principles of professionalism, education, service and ethics, your company elevates its standing to the general public, the hospitality sector and suppliers who support our causes.

The right to use our CDJA Associate Logo attests that, with even a small linkage to our system, you still improve your credibility in the eyes of visitors who come to our website for all the online positives that we offer to them. The CDJA's standards and principled requirements that you have assumed, shows our website guests that you have our name and reputation backing your business interests.
